5. Discussion Regarding Cost Sharing Structure at CCCERA Paul Angelo, John Monroe, the Segal Company

Angelo began by reviewing the rationale for cost sharing (pooling). He noted his letter provides information concerning possible options for depooling of CCCERA's liabilities and normal cost used in the determination of employer contribution rates. Angelo reviewed the pooling structure that is currently employed in the annual actuarial valuation for CCCERA.

A recommendation of a possible first step towards depooling was discussed noting that CCCERA's nonactive liabilities would be separated into the same four groups that the assets (AAL and UAAL) are pooled for active members. This would track the Safety experience that occurs at or after retirement separately from the General experience, while the experience for different employers within those four groups would still be shared.

A possible second step towards depooling was reviewed which would track and account for CCCERA's assets and liabilities (AAL, UAAL and normal Cost) by each employer separately. Those employers with 50 members or less would be pooled within the larger County category.

With this approach, any gains or losses that occur at any time before or after retirement would be allocated to each individual employer separately. The experience of each particular employer with members in excess of 50 members would be tracked and funded separately from all other employers. If either of these two approaches is taken, an additional decision would need to be made whether or not this depooling would be on a prospective or retroactive basis.

6. Possible Action Regarding Cost Sharing Structure at CCCERA

It was M/S/C to move forward with the first step towards depooling by separating CCCERA's non-active liabilities by the same four groups as used for active members. (Yes: Buck, Cabral, Gaynor, Hast, Holcombe, Katz, Naramore, Pollacek, and Viramontes)

There was a motion to move forward with step two towards depooling by separating CCCERA's experience and assets (AAL, UAAL and normal cost) by each employer (with 50 or more employees) separately, retroactive to December 31, 2002.

A substitute motion was offered to not depool by employer at this time, but move forward with the actuarial study going back to 2002, review the information and revisit three years after the numbers are received.

An amendment to the substitute motion was offered to move forward with the study going back to 2002 and remove the three year waiting period on moving forward with step 2. (Yes: Naramore and Viramontes; No: Gaynor, Holcombe, Katz, and Pollacek; Abs: Buck, Cabral, and Hast) The motion failed.

Naramore was not present for subsequent discussion and voting.

The original motion was reinstated; it was M/S/C to move forward with step two towards depooling by separating CCCERA's experience and assets (AAL, UAAL and normal cost) by each employer (with 50 or more employees) separately, commencing with December 31, 2002 valuation and going forward from that date. (Yes: Gaynor, Hast, Holcombe, Katz, and Pollacek; No: Buck, Cabral, and Remick; Abs: Viramontes)
